

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL XXX

ATLANTA, GA. MONDAY MORNING, JULY 12, 1897.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

TOOK MORPHINE; DIED IN ACONY

Dr. L. P. Garvey, of Illinois, Died in Atlanta Yesterday.

HE WAS IN VERY ILL HEALTH

And Had Long Been Addicted to the Morphine Habit.

OVERDOSE WAS TAKEN BY ACCIDENT

He Was Being Treated at the Time
the Fatal Injection Was Made.
He Lingered in Great Agony
for Several Hours Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock Dr. T. L. Garvey died from the effects of cocaine at the residence of Mr. M. A. Davis, No. 5 Walton street.

It was reported that the death was a case of self-destruction but this is denied by Mrs. Garvey and those who were with the dying man at the time of his death.

Three or four hours before his death Dr. Garvey suffered the most terrible agony, his cries and moans being heard in the neighboring houses, and this together with the fact that he had been in the habit of using cocaine, gave rise to the rumors that the deceased had committed suicide.

For many years Dr. Garvey had taken cocaine and yesterday he grew suddenly ill after taking a dose of ten grains. Dr. R. M. Woolley, who had been treating him, was sent for and he found the patient in an unconscious condition. In fearful agony the sufferer passed away.

SENATE DISPOSED TO DO LITTLE General Deficiency Appropriation Bill Will Probably Be Passed.

SITTINGS EVERY THIRD DAY

Impression Is That the House Will Indoors Appointment of a Currenty Commission.

Washington, July 11.—Beyond the fact that the general deficiency appropriation bill probably will be passed and that the senate will stand ready to take up the tariff bill at any time a report may be brought in by the conference committee, little can be predicted of the course of events in the senate during the present week.

The disposition was to do little in the way of general legislation and there is a proposal under consideration for the leaders of the two sides of the chamber to drop the proposed bill in vogue in the house for sitting only every third day after the deficiency bill should have been disposed of.

This suggestion is made in view of the possibility of pressure to take up the matter of the appointment of a currency commission. The general impression about the senate is that the house will pass such a bill on the subject as the president may recommend, but there is no probability that the senate will take the matter up seriously.

Several hundred of the minor amendments have been agreed upon. Many of them were changes of phraseology and on several occasions the conferees have referred naturally to the frequent meetings. There are, however, some matters on the executive calendar demanding attention and there may be an effort to clear the calendar during the week. If such should prove to be the case, there would be more or less discussion on the various bills over the McCord, Harlan and Goodwin nominations.

The friends of the Hawaiian annexation treatise on the foreign relations committee also have the authority to report a ratification resolution at their meeting next Wednesday, but it is by no means certain that they will be able to reach an agreement so soon.

Monday will be devoted to the general debate on the tariff bill, attention being given to the provision for the purchase of armor plate at $425 per ton. This portion of the bill will be seriously antagonized by the conferees.

Senator Harris, of Kansas, will endeavor to get up his resolution regarding the reorganization of the house, which will be voted during the week, but in this he will be opposed, and is not likely to succeed.

The tariff conferees confidently expect to bring in a bill on the report of the committee on the tariff on Wednesday.

The length of the debate on the report will depend upon how well the senate conferees may have succeeded in making the majority of the senate vote.

The democrats and other opponents of the senate bill are very anxious to oppose the addition to rates, as they said there had not yet appeared on the horizon anything which could be held out strongly for its contention.

There is considerable difficulty as would not in time be summarized.

The stamp tax on bonds and stocks provided for in one of the senate amendments will be voted on Saturday.

The conferees have agreed upon the stamp tax on bonds and stocks.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion is that the senate will be in favor of a senate substitute, but with certain of the house provisions, that is that the list of countries which will be used as basis for reciprocity treaties will be reduced, and that the senate provision requiring that the amendments which they were instrumental in securing putting cotton bagging, cotton ticks, pure green etc., on the free list have been removed.

The senate will insist upon final adjournment as soon as the tariff is disposed of.

MILNE MAKES A REPORT.

Sealing Is Discussed in a Paper by Customs Man.

Victoria, B. C., July 11.—R. Milne, collector of customs at this port, has made a public statement, replying to the criticism of Professor Thompson's sealing report made by J. H. Liebes, the sealing expert of the American Commercial Company.

Milne says his report, which Liebes' critics are absolutely correct, the figures being given by the captain of schooners using both and vessels by distinguished experts in the sealing season.

He says about half a mile off the coast of a female skin after they have been salted to or dried to skins examined here upon the arrival of schooners. A test was made of this in two of these years ago and found it impossible to tell the skin from another with the exception of old bulls, which can be told by the name.

When I reached the bedside," said Dr. Woolley, "the patient was unconscious. There was no cause for his taking his own life. He was devoted to his wife and his business affairs were in good shape.

"He had been in the habit of using cocaine," said Mr. Davis, "and while his death may have been the result of the use of the deadly drug, still I do not believe the doctor took his own life. He has been to Atlanta for medical treatment since last fall, with the exception of about six weeks which he spent in Florida. If you ask any further information about the case I refer you to his physician, Dr. Woolley."

DR. WOOLLEY'S STATEMENT.

Dr. Woolley stated it was not in his opinion a case of suicide.

"When I reached the bedside," said Dr. Woolley, "the patient was unconscious. There was no cause for his taking his own life. He was devoted to his wife and his business affairs were in good shape.

"Dr. Garvey came to Atlanta last winter. His home is in Oakland, Ill. He spent five or six weeks in the city and returned to Atlanta a short while ago. He had been addicted to the use of cocaine for many years. The effect of the drug finally caused his death, but, as I stated, he did not commit suicide."

Dr. Woolley is at one time a professor in a northern College. He stated to his friends that he began the use of cocaine as a stimulant when he was overworked. He found that he had to gradually increase the quantity of the drug, and when too far realized that he was a victim to a terrible vice. He tried to quit using the poison, but could not, and was completely enslaved by him. He came to Atlanta for treatment, but the habit had gained too strong a hold upon him. A visit to Florida was tried, but this failed to give him any relief.

Yesterday he took the drug as usual, but it is supposed in a larger quantity. Any way, he became violently ill and for hours raved like a madman. His death is said to have been one of great suffering and agony.

DR. WOOLLEY'S STATEMENT.

Dr. Woolley stated it was not in his opinion a case of suicide.

"When I reached the bedside," said Dr. Woolley, "the patient was unconscious. There was no cause for his taking his own life. He was devoted to his wife and his business affairs were in good shape.

"He had been in the habit of using cocaine," said Mr. Davis, "and while his death may have been the result of the use of the deadly drug, still I do not believe the doctor took his own life. He has been to Atlanta for medical treatment since last fall, with the exception of about six weeks which he spent in Florida. If you ask any further information about the case I refer you to his physician, Dr. Woolley."

DR. WOOLLEY'S STATEMENT.

Dr. Woolley stated it was not in his opinion a case of suicide.

"When I reached the bedside," said Dr. Woolley, "the patient was unconscious. There was no cause for his taking his own life. He was devoted to his wife and his business affairs were in good shape.

"He had been in the habit of using cocaine," said Mr. Davis, "and while his death may have been the result of the use of the deadly drug, still I do not believe the doctor took his own life. He has been to Atlanta for medical treatment since last fall, with the exception of about six weeks which he spent in Florida. If you ask any further information about the case I refer you to his physician, Dr. Woolley."

REBELS ARE SCARCE OF SUPPLIES

Sancti Spiritus Committee Compliments Captain General Weyler.

Havana, July 11.—Reports presented to the authorities by Eusebio Gomes, governor of Trinidade, say that rebels there are in a serious position owing to the great scarcity of supplies of all kinds.

A committee of the local authorities of Sancti Spiritus recently visited Captain General Weyler and presented to him an address in which they declared that the autonomists always have supported and will in the future support the government and its representatives. The address congratulates the captain general upon his installation as chief of the army, and with regard to political parties, and declares that more than any other governor has maintained the position. The address adds that the majority of the local autonomists has joined the revolutionists.

General Weyler thanked the committee and said that he should not abandon the cause.

News received in Havana from a private source say that General Weyler's agent, Agent Quintin Bandera, was killed on Monday last.

POWERS REPLY TO THE SULTAN.

The Porte Wants To Send More Troops

to Crete.

Constantinople, July 11.—Queen Victoria, Emperor William, Emperor Nicholas, President Faure and King Humbert have replied to the telegrams received by them from the sultan and all gave advice similar to that sent by Emperor Francis Joseph.

Emperor William says in substance that he regrets his inability to dissociate himself from the views held by the other powers, though he is the first to declare that the frontier question has been received by the ambassadors. They all have admitted the Greek pretensions. The Porte has sent another circular to the powers, proposing that in view of the disturbed condition existing in Crete, Turkey send reinforcements to the island. To this the powers have also replied, endeavoring to dissuade the Greeks from doing so.

The latest proposal on the part of the Turkish government is held to indicate that the sultan does not intend to yield in regard to the frontier question.

Nearly all were at once arrested and gave bond; the others will do so tomorrow.

NATIONAL HAY ASSOCIATION.

Delegates from All Parts of the United States Will Be Present.

Chicago, N. Y., July 11.—A call for the fourth annual meeting of the National Hay Association at the Monongahela house, Pittsburgh, on Aug. 10th, is announced in the last issue of The Hay Trade Journal.

The crop in the states being much larger, with probable lighter imports than during the past few years, gives new impetus to the trade.

Delegates will be in attendance from all parts of the United States and business pertaining to the hay trade will be fully discussed during the three days' session.

CONFEREES WORKED FOUR HOURS SUNDAY

Members Seem Satisfied with the Progress

Being Made.

AGREE ON MINOR AMENDMENTS

None of the Important Problems of the Bill Have Yet Been Solved.

A SPIRIT OF CONCILIATION IS SHOWN

Stamp Tax on Bonds and Stocks Has Not Yet Been Accepted by the House Contingent.

Washington, July 11.—The conferees on the tariff bill will be a four-hour session today. The anxiety to reach a complete agreement on the appointment of a currency commission. The general impression about the senate is that the house will pass such a bill on the subject as the president may recommend, but there is no probability that the senate will take the matter up seriously.

Several hundred of the minor amendments have been agreed upon. Many of them were changes of phraseology and on several occasions the conferees have referred naturally to the frequent meetings. There are, however, some matters on the executive calendar demanding attention and there may be an effort to clear the calendar during the week. If such should prove to be the case, there would be more or less discussion on the various bills over the McCord, Harlan and Goodwin nominations.

The friends of the Hawaiian annexation treatise on the foreign relations committee also have the authority to report a ratification resolution at their meeting next Wednesday, but it is by no means certain that they will be able to reach an agreement so soon.

Monday will be devoted to the general debate on the tariff bill, attention being given to the provision for the purchase of armor plate at $425 per ton. This portion of the bill will be seriously antagonized by the conferees.

Senator Harris, of Kansas, will endeavor to get up his resolution regarding the reorganization of the house, which will be voted during the week, but in this he will be opposed, and is not likely to succeed.

The tariff conferees confidently expect to bring in a bill on the report of the committee on the tariff on Wednesday.

The length of the debate on the report will depend upon how well the senate conferees may have succeeded in making the majority of the senate vote.

There is considerable difficulty as would not in time be summarized.

There are the best of reasons for believing that several of the main points of contention will be compromised. This is especially believed to be true of lumber, hides and sugar, and possibly sugar, though on the latter the house has shown a strong desire to particularize firmly for their schedule.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion is that the senate provision requiring that the house provisions, that is that the list of countries which will be used as basis for reciprocity treaties will be reduced, and that the senate provision requiring that the amendments which they were instrumental in securing putting cotton bagging, cotton ticks, pure green etc., on the free list have been removed.

The stamp tax on bonds and stocks provided for in one of the senate amendments will be voted on Saturday.

The conferees have agreed upon the stamp tax on bonds and stocks.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion is that the senate will be in favor of a senate substitute, but with certain of the house provisions, that is that the list of countries which will be used as basis for reciprocity treaties will be reduced, and that the senate provision requiring that the amendments which they were instrumental in securing putting cotton bagging, cotton ticks, pure green etc., on the free list have been removed.

The stamp tax on bonds and stocks provided for in one of the senate amendments will be voted on Saturday.

The conferees have agreed upon the stamp tax on bonds and stocks.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion is that the senate will be in favor of a senate substitute, but with certain of the house provisions, that is that the list of countries which will be used as basis for reciprocity treaties will be reduced, and that the senate provision requiring that the amendments which they were instrumental in securing putting cotton bagging, cotton ticks, pure green etc., on the free list have been removed.

The stamp tax on bonds and stocks provided for in one of the senate amendments will be voted on Saturday.

The conferees have agreed upon the stamp tax on bonds and stocks.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion is that the senate will be in favor of a senate substitute, but with certain of the house provisions, that is that the list of countries which will be used as basis for reciprocity treaties will be reduced, and that the senate provision requiring that the amendments which they were instrumental in securing putting cotton bagging, cotton ticks, pure green etc., on the free list have been removed.

The stamp tax on bonds and stocks provided for in one of the senate amendments will be voted on Saturday.

The conferees have agreed upon the stamp tax on bonds and stocks.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion is that the senate will be in favor of a senate substitute, but with certain of the house provisions, that is that the list of countries which will be used as basis for reciprocity treaties will be reduced, and that the senate provision requiring that the amendments which they were instrumental in securing putting cotton bagging, cotton ticks, pure green etc., on the free list have been removed.

The stamp tax on bonds and stocks provided for in one of the senate amendments will be voted on Saturday.

The conferees have agreed upon the stamp tax on bonds and stocks.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion is that the senate will be in favor of a senate substitute, but with certain of the house provisions, that is that the list of countries which will be used as basis for reciprocity treaties will be reduced, and that the senate provision requiring that the amendments which they were instrumental in securing putting cotton bagging, cotton ticks, pure green etc., on the free list have been removed.

The stamp tax on bonds and stocks provided for in one of the senate amendments will be voted on Saturday.

The conferees have agreed upon the stamp tax on bonds and stocks.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion is that the senate will be in favor of a senate substitute, but with certain of the house provisions, that is that the list of countries which will be used as basis for reciprocity treaties will be reduced, and that the senate provision requiring that the amendments which they were instrumental in securing putting cotton bagging, cotton ticks, pure green etc., on the free list have been removed.

The stamp tax on bonds and stocks provided for in one of the senate amendments will be voted on Saturday.

The conferees have agreed upon the stamp tax on bonds and stocks.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion is that the senate will be in favor of a senate substitute, but with certain of the house provisions, that is that the list of countries which will be used as basis for reciprocity treaties will be reduced, and that the senate provision requiring that the amendments which they were instrumental in securing putting cotton bagging, cotton ticks, pure green etc., on the free list have been removed.

HAS WILLIAMS BEEN LYNCHED?

Where Thousands Were Working a Week Ago There Is Now Id

OBSERVED DURING TARIFF DEBATE

Senator Hoar Says That There Is Human Nature in a Democrat.

WHY HE MADE THIS REMARK

Southern Senators Looking for Their People's Interest.

WHEN THEY SAW THE BILL WOULD PASS

Did Senator Vest Make Mistake in Criticizing Senator Bacon for Asking Duty on Cotton?

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington, July 11.—(Special)—"Moral—there is a good deal of human nature in a democrat."

So declared the distinguished senior senator from Massachusetts, and the result was a laugh that went around the senate chamber.

The tariff bill was under consideration, and Mr. Weston called on him by declaration of Senator Caffery in favor of a tariff on the sugar in which he and his constituents are much interested. Senator Hoar referred to this and to the advocacy by other democratic senators of tariffs of especial interest to their constituents and in his dry way announced his human nature discovery.

Blood Is Thicker Than Water.

In this case, however, that blood is thicker than water and that democrats, like republicans, will all things else being equal, look after those who are part and parcel of their political households ahead of others who bear no such relationship to ward them.

It is the same year, and next year. And yet for doing that, for doing what others have done and will do, a howl has gone up against certain southern senators. This has been directed particularly against the Georgia senators and against their colleagues from South Carolina, and because of his strong defense of their attitude against his critics, the state senator Barbour has made the special target of these attacks.

Pure Revenue Rates.

Now that the senate has finished with the bill it may be interesting to refer to some features of the debates—those features particularly bearing on the attitude of democratic senators—to the effect that the suggestion of "human nature" holds good as to others as well as those who, for trying to make the republican bill equitable and just toward certain southern interests, have incurred the criticisms of some of their fellow senators.

Florida Senators.

The Georgia senators advocated and voted for purely revenue rates upon certain products which were legitimate articles of taxation. In any tariff bill made purely revenue rates upon all articles would be placed upon the dutiable list and at rates approximately those cited in the amendment offered by Senator Bacon and incorporated into the bill. The articles—lumber, rice, Egyptian cotton—are legitimate articles of taxation, and the purely revenue bill and rates are democratic ad valorem rates, no higher than would be placed upon those articles if the democrats had the making of the bill and were carrying out the instructions of the democratic platform. These Georgia democrats and their colleagues who voted for the bill and endorsed it to make the bill as nearly equitable and just as they could. They were guided by that greatest of democratic principles—equality. If in trying to lighten the burdens which are placed upon the south by the republican tariff bill they deviated in what they did from Massachusetts, they will have to plead guilty to the charge. They are guilty of trying to do what they could in the interest of their constituents.

Other Senators Are Human Also.

But are they alone among democrats in this?

I have made quite a close study of the tariff debate as reported in the record and have been impressed with the fact that this streak of "human nature" was throughout all the democratic speeches. Many of them, most of them, have gone forth with these particular southerners. Men who were loudest in their criticism of the southerners and who made Senator Bacon a special target for their criticisms are found advocating and voting for high protective tariff on certain articles which their constituents are interested. Not revenue tariffs and not for the purpose of producing revenue or only incidental protection—but out and out protective tariffs in many instances.

A notable example of this discussion which we have referred to before is one which it will not hurt to speak of again in this connection, that is greater activity has been shown by the men who left the democratic party in the last campaign. With beautiful arrogance they have undertaken throughout their careers that they are democratic doctrinaires. They have been converted. Not once, not twice, not three times, but four times. They have gone all into the record just to show their consistency. I refer to Senators Caffery, Lindsay and Gray.

Not in a Spirit of Criticism.

This is this is written in a spirit of criticism of the men who left the democratic party. It was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

A Word About Senator Vest.

First was a word about Senator Vest. It was he who began the lecturing of those who advocated the free trade policy. He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

Good democratic doctrine that. Compare it with the language of the position of the senators whom he had just been criticizing. He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of democracy and the great democratic creed of equality. And yet, when the heat of debate had cooled somewhat and he saw that the position the Georgian had taken could not be converted, we find that same senator, Vest, indignant at the moderation of that position. Here is what he said:

"We have heard a good deal today about equality. I believe in equality. I believe that there is no greater sin than to discriminate against those who ought to be discriminated in favor of any section. Needed revenue, always within the limit of a tariff to protect our country, is a necessity, and never putting the burden of the tariff on one section is the expression of another."

He was the voice raised loudest in criticism of Senator Bacon's definition of

ERS ARE
ING LABOR

now Drawing to a Close in Francisco.

ES ALL CROWDED
ucted by Prominent
the Organization.

TO ENGLAND IN 1888

Been Chosen as the Meeting Next Year.
Done Yesterday.

Charges Against His Daughter Caused
the Demonstration.

SENSATION STIRRED ST. PAUL CHURCH

Yesterday Afternoon His Members Met
at His Home and Assured Him of
Their Loyalty and Cordial
Support—What His Daughter Says.

DAVE SULLIVAN WANTS A FIGHT

"Spike's" Brother May Go Against Pedder Palmer in London.

Newspaper says "Spike" may have reached to meet his brother Dave Sullivan at his home in Chicago, who is two miles more than Smith's record-breaking performance of May 9th last, over the same course.

Baltimore, July 11.—Elmer C. Davis, of this city, today succeeded in breaking the American twenty-four-hour record, which was held by Henry Smith also of Baltimore.

Davis covered 516 miles in the twenty-four hours ending at 11 o'clock this afternoon, which is two miles more than Smith's record-breaking performance of May 9th last, over the same course.

Although breaking the twenty-four-hour record, Davis did not succeed in getting any additional money, as he had agreed to make by Smith. Davis' riding of the last 100 miles is regarded as a wonderful exhibition of nervous energy. He is twenty-five years old and weighs 100 pounds.

Montgomery, Ala., July 11.—(Special)—The young girl's disappearance caused a great sensation at the time she left her home on Wyman street, in the remote eastern part of the city. She made no announcement of her intentions, and when she left her parents, who are well-educated people, were almost distracted with grief. The entire city was searched and many telegrams were sent to neighboring towns, but not a word was received about the missing girl.

Saturday night a little girl wandered into the Western and Atlantic railroad depot in Rome. She was crying bitterly, and her sobs attracted the attention of several persons. From her was learned her identity and the story of her disappearance. She is not being held in custody, and the railroad fare was sent her yesterday, and every train from Rome was met, but the girl did not come. She is expected this morning. If she should fail to come today, her mother will go to Rome after her.

It has been reported that the kidnappers left home. She was accompanied by a companion, Linnie Thrallkill. They went to within eight miles of Rome, where they stopped at a farm house, remaining there until the father of Linnie found her and brought her home. The kidnappers, John Lewis and then went to Rome, where she was found and arrested Saturday afternoon.

The information of the finding of the little girl was carried to Mr. Lewis by a constable, who reported that Linnie lives in a little vine-covered cottage about half a mile from the Elmas-May factory in east Atlanta. He was delighted to know his daughter had been found.

"I don't know why she left home," said the mother, "she has always been treated well, and we love her very much. The children, because she was our first child and has always been a sweet girl. I have sent her the railroad fare, and if she does not return today, I will go to Rome after her."

There were many warm hand shakes and many eyes wept with sympathetic tears.

After the congregation disbanded a meeting of the board of trustees was held in the parlor of Mr. Dimon at his residence at the corner of Hill and East Hunter streets.

The story behind the services yesterday at St. Paul church and the meeting of the churchmen in the home of their pastor is one that has caused a stir of excitement in the third ward, where Dr. Dimon and his family reside. It is a story that involves the character of his oldest daughter, Miss Emma Dimon, and before the end is reached the matter may reach the courts.

Miss Emma Dimon is a beautiful young lady scarcely out of her teens. She is a member of her father's church and has a host of friends in the city who love her for her many traits of character and for her lovely and gentle disposition.

Last Wednesday morning she paid a visit to the home of Mrs. W. R. Jester, who has for many years been a warm friend of the Dimon family. Miss Dimon and Mrs. Jester were great friends and they often spent the day together, both being congenial and fond of music.

Several days ago Mrs. Jester missed her gold watch and chain from its accustomed place on the dresser in her room. The jewelry was not only valued for its intrinsic worth, but had been in the family for a number of years and was greatly prized on this account. When the watch and chain were stolen the detectives were employed and they stated that in all probability a domestic at the Jester home had taken the jewelry. Mrs. Jester immediately informed Miss Dimon of the loss and they talked about the theft several times, Miss Dimon attempting to console her friend.

Wednesday's Stormy Visit.

Last Wednesday morning a servant from the Jester home called at the Dimon residence and asked to see Miss Dimon, stating that Mrs. Jester had sent for the young lady, who was anxious to see her.

Miss Dimon went immediately to the home of her friend.

"I was received very cordially by Mrs. Jester," said Miss Dimon yesterday, "but I noticed that she was nervous and apparently greatly wrought up."

Miss Dimon says Mrs. Jester sat down in a chair, and drawing it up close to hers, suddenly said:

"I want you to tell me about my watch and chain."

"I was dumfounded," said Miss Dimon yesterday. "I said, 'My God, I don't know anything about it further than what you have told me about it being stolen.'"

Miss Dimon immediately left the house, highly indignant. When she reached her father's home, a few blocks away, she was ill, falling in a faint upon the bed.

To her mother she reported the insinuation that had been made by Mrs. Jester.

Mrs. Dimon immediately went to the home of Mrs. Jester, but was informed that Mrs. Jester had left and was at the plantation of her husband.

Dr. Dimon Makes Statement.

Dr. S. H. Dimon, pastor of the St. Paul church and father of the young lady, was seen yesterday at his home.

In the presence of Miss Emma and his wife, he made a full statement of the facts in the case, saying that he had visited his attorney and acting under his advice had called upon Mrs. Jester and asked that she prove her charges or make a full written statement vindicating his child and defending the charges.

Dr. Dimon says the result of his visit was anything but satisfactory, as Mrs. Jester declined to make any statement, saying she had made no accusation.

"This matter must be sifted to the bottom," said he yesterday, "or there will be a written denial and a complete vindication. I am determined that Mrs. Jester's accusations shall not be made public. She urged that I keep secret and told my daughter that if she would make a confession in secret about the matter the public would never be the wiser. I am going to use general means, but if that doesn't accomplish the end, then I will resort to sterner remedies."

The friends of Miss Dimon and her family are highly indignant over the matter and

HAPPY SHOUTS FILL THE CHURCH

Pastor Dimon's Congregation's Sympathetic Testimonial.

MEMBERS SHAKE HIS HAND

Charges Against His Daughter Caused
the Demonstration.

SENSATION STIRRED ST. PAUL CHURCH

Yesterday Afternoon His Members Met
at His Home and Assured Him of
Their Loyalty and Cordial
Support—What His Daughter Says.

An unusual and stirring scene was enacted yesterday morning in the St. Paul Methodist church on East Hunter street while Pastor S. H. Dimon was preaching to his congregation. Many members, all however, devout

The topic being "Habits of Endurance and Hope."

summarized the teaching of the prophet and apply to fairs of today.

United Presbyterian church

over the Philadelphia

Methodist church, the use of the California climate

as an advertisement for the convention week in perfect every day since the departure and the returning of the strength of the atmosphere.

An aged member lifted his hand.

The congregation knelt in prayer. Then the congregation adjourned.

There were many warm hand shakes and many eyes wept with sympathetic tears.

After the congregation disbanded a meeting of the board of trustees was held in the parlor of Mr. Dimon at his residence at the corner of Hill and East Hunter streets.

The story behind the services yesterday at St. Paul church and the meeting of the churchmen in the home of their pastor is one that has caused a stir of excitement in the third ward, where Dr. Dimon and his family reside. It is a story that involves the character of his oldest daughter, Miss Emma Dimon, and before the end is reached the matter may reach the courts.

Miss Emma Dimon is a beautiful young lady scarcely out of her teens. She is a member of her father's church and has a host of friends in the city who love her for her many traits of character and for her lovely and gentle disposition.

Last Wednesday morning she paid a visit to the home of Mrs. W. R. Jester, who has for many years been a warm friend of the Dimon family. Miss Dimon and Mrs. Jester were great friends and they often spent the day together, both being congenial and fond of music.

Several days ago Mrs. Jester missed her gold watch and chain from its accustomed place on the dresser in her room. The jewelry was not only valued for its intrinsic worth, but had been in the family for a number of years and was greatly prized on this account. When the watch and chain were stolen the detectives were employed and they stated that in all probability a domestic at the Jester home had taken the jewelry. Mrs. Jester immediately informed Miss Dimon of the loss and they talked about the theft several times, Miss Dimon attempting to console her friend.

Wednesday's Stormy Visit.

Last Wednesday morning a servant from the Jester home called at the Dimon residence and asked to see Miss Dimon, stating that Mrs. Jester had sent for the young lady, who was anxious to see her.

Miss Dimon went immediately to the home of her friend.

"I was received very cordially by Mrs. Jester," said Miss Dimon yesterday, "but I noticed that she was nervous and apparently greatly wrought up."

Miss Dimon says Mrs. Jester sat down in a chair, and drawing it up close to hers, suddenly said:

"I want you to tell me about my watch and chain."

"I was dumfounded," said Miss Dimon yesterday. "I said, 'My God, I don't know anything about it further than what you have told me about it being stolen.'"

Miss Dimon immediately left the house, highly indignant. When she reached her father's home, a few blocks away, she was ill, falling in a faint upon the bed.

To her mother she reported the insinuation that had been made by Mrs. Jester.

Mrs. Dimon immediately went to the home of Mrs. Jester, but was informed that Mrs. Jester had left and was at the plantation of her husband.

Dr. Dimon Makes Statement.

Dr. S. H. Dimon, pastor of the St. Paul church and father of the young lady, was seen yesterday at his home.

In the presence of Miss Emma and his wife, he made a full statement of the facts in the case, saying that he had visited his attorney and acting under his advice had called upon Mrs. Jester and asked that she prove her charges or make a full written statement vindicating his child and defending the charges.

Dr. Dimon says the result of his visit was anything but satisfactory, as Mrs. Jester declined to make any statement, saying she had made no accusation.

"This matter must be sifted to the bottom," said he yesterday, "or there will be a written denial and a complete vindication. I am determined that Mrs. Jester's accusations shall not be made public. She urged that I keep secret and told my daughter that if she would make a confession in secret about the matter the public would never be the wiser. I am going to use general means, but if that doesn't accomplish the end, then I will resort to sterner remedies."

The friends of Miss Dimon and her family are highly indignant over the matter and

the accusation has created one of the warmest sensations of the day in the third ward.

Mrs. Jester Could Not Be Seen.

A representative of The Constitution called at the residence of Mrs. Jester yesterday afternoon, but was informed that he could not see Mrs. Jester.

"She is ill, and nobody can see her," was the reply from the lady who met him at the door.

The newspaper man persisted, asking that he be allowed to ask but a few questions upon a matter that was important.

"You can't see her under any circumstances," said the lady, who then closed the door.

This is the story that caused the scene in St. Paul's church yesterday morning. It was an outburst of sympathy and hearty assurance of friendship that was given the beloved pastor who has ministered to his church for two years.

During the afternoon a number of members of the church called at his home and assured him of their confidence in the daughter whom they declare has been assailed without cause.

DALTIMOREAN BREAKS RECORD.

Davis Rides Three Hundred and Sixteen Miles in Twenty-Four Hours.

Baltimore, July 11.—Elmer C. Davis, of this city, today succeeded in breaking the American twenty-four-hour record, which was held by Henry Smith also of Baltimore.

Davis covered 516 miles in the twenty-four hours ending at 11 o'clock this afternoon, which is two miles more than Smith's record-breaking performance of May 9th last, over the same course.

Although breaking the twenty-four-hour record, Davis did not succeed in getting any additional money, as he had agreed to make by Smith. Davis' riding of the last 100 miles is regarded as a wonderful exhibition of nervous energy. He is twenty-five years old and weighs 100 pounds.

Montgomery, Ala., July 11.—(Special)—The thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. Tom Lewis, who so mysteriously disappeared four weeks ago from her home in this city, has been found in Rome, where she is now under arrest and being held until she can be returned to her home.

The young girl's disappearance caused a great sensation at the time she left her home on Wyman street, in the remote eastern part of the city. She made no announcement of her intentions, and when she left her parents, who are well-educated people, were almost distracted with grief. The entire city was searched and many telegrams were sent to neighboring towns, but not a word was received about the missing girl.

Saturday night a little girl wandered into the Western and Atlantic railroad depot in Rome. She was crying bitterly, and her sobs attracted the attention of several persons. From her was learned her identity and the story of her disappearance. She is not being held in custody, and the railroad fare was sent her yesterday, and every train from Rome was met, but the girl did not come. She is expected this morning. If she should fail to come today, her mother will go to Rome after her.

It has been reported that the kidnappers left home. She was accompanied by a companion, Linnie Thrallkill. They went to within eight miles of Rome, where they stopped at a farm house, remaining there until the father of Linnie found her and brought her home. The kidnappers, John Lewis and then went to Rome, where she was found and arrested Saturday afternoon.

The young girl was carried to Mr. Lewis by a constable, who reported that Linnie lives in a little vine-covered cottage about half a mile from the Elmas-May factory in east Atlanta. He was delighted to know his daughter had been found.

"I don't know why she left home," said the mother, "she has always been treated well, and we love her very much. The children, because she was our first child and has always been a sweet girl. I have sent her the railroad fare, and if she does not return today, I will go to Rome after her."

There were many warm hand shakes and many eyes wept with sympathetic tears.

After the congregation disbanded a meeting of the board of trustees was held in the parlor of Mr. Dimon at his residence at the corner of Hill and East Hunter streets.

The story behind the services yesterday at St. Paul church and the meeting of the churchmen in the home of their pastor is one that has caused a stir of excitement in the third ward, where Dr. Dimon and his family reside. It is a story that involves the character of his oldest daughter, Miss Emma Dimon, and before the end is reached the matter may reach the courts.

Miss Emma Dimon is a beautiful young lady scarcely out of her teens. She is a member of her father's church and has a host of friends in the city who love her for her many traits of character and for her lovely and gentle disposition.

Last Wednesday morning she paid a visit to the home of Mrs. W. R. Jester, who has for many years been a warm friend of the Dimon family. Miss Dimon and Mrs. Jester were great friends and they often spent the day together, both being congenial and fond of music.

Several days ago Mrs. Jester missed her gold watch and chain from its accustomed place on the dresser in her room. The jewelry was not only valued for its intrinsic worth, but had been in the family for a number of years and was greatly prized on this account. When the watch and chain were stolen the detectives were employed and they stated that in all probability a domestic at the Jester home had taken the jewelry. Mrs. Jester immediately informed Miss Dimon of the loss and they talked about the theft several times, Miss Dimon attempting to console her friend.

Wednesday's Stormy Visit.

Last Wednesday morning a servant from the Jester home called at the Dimon residence and asked to see Miss Dimon, stating that Mrs. Jester had sent for the young lady, who was anxious to see her.

Miss Dimon went immediately to the home of her friend.

"I was received very cordially by Mrs. Jester," said Miss Dimon yesterday, "but I noticed that she was nervous and apparently greatly wrought up."

The Constitution.

PUBLISHED DAILY, SUNDAY AND WEEKLY.

CLARK HOWELL.....Editor
W. A. HEMPHILL.....Business Manager

The Morning Constitution (with Sunday) per year.....$5.00
The Morning Constitution (without Sunday).....$4.00
The Weekly Constitution, per year.....$1.00

We do not undertake to return rejected MSS., and will not do so unless accompanied by return postage.

To Subscribers.

The Traveling Agents of The Constitution are Messrs. W. H. Overby and Charles H. Donnelly.

NICHOLAS &amp; HOLLIDAY, Constitution Building sole Advertising Managers for all territory outside of Atlanta.

ATLANTA, GA., July 12, 1887.

The Lawyers' Responsibility.

In the discussion growing out of the demand for law reform, much has been said about the duty of the lawyer to uphold his client, and the necessity resting upon his shoulders of resorting to every technically available, but certain course of conduct.

For instance, to put it plainly, the lawyer does not appear in the courtroom as the accomplice or partner of the defendant, at liberty to do anything which the stress of a defendant might impel him to do for himself. He appears as a sworn officer of the court, to represent the state just as fully as does the solicitor general.

The limit of his duty toward his client is the ascertainment of fact, which being also the purpose of the solicitor general, their end is identical. It becomes neither to resort to double play, and neither should suppress the ascertainment of the whole truth. In no case should a lawyer set himself up to defeat the law, but simply to secure its rightful application.

On this line the attention of The Constitution has been called to an address delivered before the Georgia Bar Association by Hon. William H. Fleming, of Augusta, he being at the time president of the association. His subject was "The Ethics of the Bar in Relation to the State," in which the identical subject under review came up. With the skill of a successful logician Mr. Fleming points out the duty which the lawyer owes his state. Holding that the measure by which justice is meted out is generally the measure of civilization. Mr. Fleming builds up to the ideal of the American court where the maintenance of justice rests on the enforcement of every man's rights. In the ascertainment of truth, there is required, besides the judge and the jury, a third factor—the bar. "A man," he goes on to say, "may plead his own case, but if he chooses to appear by substitute, that substitute must be a licensed practitioner, commissioned by the state for the exclusive performance of certain duties. Of the function of the bar, Mr. Fleming said:

Clearly that function must be to promote in some way the administration of justice. If the special authorities or privileges may be assigned to the bar, they must not be antagonistic to the object for which the courts exist. The action of the part must harmonize with the design of the whole, else confusion will ensue. The people to decide either the law or the facts as they are found in lawyers who appear at the bar of our courts. Their office, then, must be to aid the judges in discharging their respective duties. Their true function must from logical necessity be that of "ministers of justice acting in aid of the court," to borrow, the fine phrase of another. Any other conclusion would negate the purpose of the court. To maintain that lawyers can dignifiedly argue with a judge to declare something more than the true law, or can rightfully endeavor to persuade a jury to find anything else than the true facts as shown by the evidence would be to stultify the state whose creatures and officers they are.

Mr. Fleming disputes warmly the doctrine of Lord Brougham, which would make the lawyer appear in court as an enemy of the state. His sole purpose was to free his client, though all else failed. In the United States the court is not the enemy of the people. Its mission is neither to convict nor acquit, but simply to ascertain the truth and apply the law to it. Based upon this conclusion, Mr. Fleming asks:

Can an officer of the court, which is at once the creature and defender of the state, sacrifice the state for the benefit of an individual who happens to be his client? Can the rights of any one man be held so sacred above the equal rights of all other men as that the latter must give way for his sake?

This question he answers fully when he says:

If the true function of the bar be to assist the court in administering justice, then from the standpoint of the state the conduct of members of the bar is right or wrong in proportion as they advance or impede the administration of justice. That is the measure according to which the final decision is made.

The ideal lawyer, therefore, sums up this theory, he quotes from an absurd article in The New York Tribune a statement to the effect that as soon as Mr. McKinley had made public the intimation that he would send in a message urging the appointment of a currency commission, various congressmen rushed to the white house and urged him, in the name of high tariff, to refrain from making his message public. The Tribune says:

It is known that the republican managers in the senate agreed three weeks ago not to press any measure providing for a currency commission at the present session. The promise was made at a time when the fate of the tariff bill was not yet definitely known, and it was in the power of the opposition to insist on delay action on that measure indefinitely. The agreement provided that there should be no effort on the part of the opponents of the tariff bill to delay action unnecessarily, and the republicans should not urge the currency commission scheme at the present session, even if the president should send in a message recommending such a commission.

If this were true, it would show a disgraceful readiness on the part of the republican majority to barter away the court and a worthy citizen, while the opposite may be said of him whose high ideal is the mere earning of a fee.

Are the Negroes in the Way?

A recent article in a German newspaper representing that the presence of the negro in the south was an insurmountable barrier to German emigration to this section, which had been commented upon by The Savannah News, found attention in these columns, to which The News takes exception.

The position of The Kreuz Zeitung was that there was no chance for the development of white activity in the southern states of America, that all the avenues of labor being in the hands of negroes, were closed against him, and consequently, his message would not have been prepared and announced. There is but one reason why the message was not sent in, and that is a very simple and natural one. A number of republicans in the house and senate have conveyed to Mr. McKinley the information that they will refuse to put themselves behind a movement to retire the greenbacks and other government notes. That is the reason why the message has not been sent in.

We have no doubt whatever that the message would have been ignored especially in the senate, nor do we have any doubt that, as The Tribune casually observes, the message was simply intended as a "soothing dose for inflamed nerves."

Nobody knows better than Mr. McKinley that his party will go to pieces in the great middle west the moment its leaders endorse or show any sign of indorsing, the proposition to retire the government demand notes and substitute therefor an irredeemable bank currency.

Viewing the matter from all sides, we are of the opinion that Mr. McKinley, complacent as he is in most things, will heed the feelings of the gold syndicate rather than create a disastrous division in the party.

Meanwhile, as Editor Godkin is among those who are responsible for McKinley, the high tariff and all the other distressing results of the November election, we advise him to possess his soul in patience. Constitutional government is not suffering to any great extent because of McKinley's affability. At any rate, it will survive, and the democratic party will restore it to vigor in 1900.

authority which the people gave it. But it is probably not true. It has been the most definite part of the democratic programme in the senate to permit the republicans to pass their monstrous tariff measure with as little delay as possible.

If such an agreement as The Tribune describes had been entered into three weeks ago, Mr. McKinley would not have been left in the dark about it, and, consequently, his message would not have been prepared and announced. There is but one reason why the message was not sent in, and that is a very simple and natural one. A number of republicans in the house and senate have conveyed to Mr. McKinley the information that they will refuse to put themselves behind a movement to retire the greenbacks and other government notes. That is the reason why the message has not been sent in.

We have no doubt whatever that the message would have been ignored especially in the senate, nor do we have any doubt that, as The Tribune casually observes, the message was simply intended as a "soothing dose for inflamed nerves."

Nobody knows better than Mr. McKinley that his party will go to pieces in the great middle west the moment its leaders endorse or show any sign of indorsing, the proposition to retire the government demand notes and substitute therefor an irredeemable bank currency.

Viewing the matter from all sides, we are of the opinion that Mr. McKinley, complacent as he is in most things, will heed the feelings of the gold syndicate rather than create a disastrous division in the party.

Meanwhile, as Editor Godkin is among those who are responsible for McKinley, the high tariff and all the other distressing results of the November election, we advise him to possess his soul in patience. Constitutional government is not suffering to any great extent because of McKinley's affability. At any rate, it will survive, and the democratic party will restore it to vigor in 1900.

Alabama Moves.

The fact that Alabama has taken the forward step of providing for the co-education of the sexes in the State university, speaks well for that progressive community.

The spirit which has so long guarded against the introduction of women into the public forces of a community was one which sprung out of the conditions when she was told to sit, but little better than a slave. Rescuing her from this servile position, Christian manhood, in order the better to protect her status, hedged her around with a chivalric devotion which acknowledged her as the queen of human life.

The Critic quotes Mr. William Dean Howells as saying that "we have outgrown Thackeray." Is it possible that anybody is reading Mr. Hoyell's books?

To Peary.

Mr. Peary, we'd very much obliged where thunders roll, If you'd think of us when icebergs block Your passage to the pole.

And 'stead of loafin' all the year,

Let's get your men together And pack the icebergs on your ships

Am' pitch 'em in our weather!

It is said that Senator Pettus knows a thousand poems by heart. The next time such a measure as the tariff bill comes up we suggest that he take the floor and recite them all.

A band of western spiritualists have decided to go to work, and are busy digging for gold. But they haven't a ghost of a chance of getting any.

The latest news from Princeton is that ex-President Cleveland "has taken to baseball." Wouldn't he look dignified making a home run!

The republicans in congress are now engaged in breaking the Sabbath and the country.

"The president attends church regularly," says a Washington exchange.

Well, a man shouldn't be a heathen because he's well.

Answer All!

Who wants to run to rule the state?

Speak up!

A gubernatorial candidate?

Speak up!

Who wants that office high—sublime?

Answer in reason or in rhyme!

Let half a hundred at a time

Speak up!

The race track's ready—long and wide:

Speak up!

Just designate the horse you'll ride:

Speak up!

See! from the land where flows the Flint

(Speak up!)

Where meets the lot in mellow mint

(Speak up!)

A champion's sword with dazzling gleams

Is waved o'er valleys, hills and streams;

The southwest land dreams glorious dreams;

Speak up!

A Boston exchange speaks of "a literary supper," and the weather suggests that it must consist of stewed authors.

Lieutenant Peary is on his way to the pole. We wish him a safe northwest passage.

To Peary.

The editor of The Bookman says "there are no American humorists now." But what about those republican fellows who promoted the country prosperity?

The Critic is growing interesting. It recently reproduces Garney's inimitable Alkahest sketches.

There is one thing about this bicycle patrol service: The New Woman is sure to object to policemen in bloomers.

There'll be so many candidates for government after a while they won't have room to run.

F. L. S.

Too Much Color in Its Hose.

From The Leary, Ga., Courier.

That excellent republican journal, The Macon Telegraph, is here assured that The Calhoun County Courier has "laid down the rule that it will oppose whatever may be advocated by The Telegraph." We find much that is good in The Telegraph, but not on financial and economic questions. Its position is so manifestly republican on these questions that we only wonder that it does not throw off the cloak of democracy and fight in the open.

They May Have Him.

From The Athens, Ga., Banner.

Dr. Grover Cleveland says he is with the national democratic party. That's good—he is certainly not wanted in the other wing.

JUST FROM GEORGIA.

Loafin' 'Roun'.
This here's jest the time to be Loafin' whar the wind blows free
Nigh some cool old country ranch
Whar the boys wade in the branch;
Whar you smell the summer rain
As it sprinkles some old lane;
Whar the bees make honeycomb
An' they call the cattle home.
Talk 'bout the dusty town—
What's it all 'to loafin' 'roun'?

Weather's blazin'; so it's best Jest to slip away an' rest—
Take a day off in the dells,
Drink from old-time country wells;
In the cool grass at your feet
Slice the watermelons sweet;
Git away from human words;
An' listen to the birds.
Talk 'bout the dusty town—
Life's lot happier loafin' 'roun'.

"An Old Man's Prayer" is a poem by Thomas Franklin Watson in the current issue of The Critic. It is worth reading. Here are four verses of it:

"O God! to Thee I cry—
Most High and Holy!
Give me the loving eye
To see thy creatures fair;
Let Thy great heart be stirred;
Speak Thou some certain word
Clearly and slowly.

"O God! I know it Thine
O priestly mind—
So shall I make it mine
For schoolmen young
Doubtless through the aged long,
Each with his heart strong,
Prov'ing his neighbor wrong,
Proving and—stoning.

"Lo! I have long aspired—
Thou hast not blest me.
When shall I find me?
God! art Thou anywhere?
God! is Thy face so fair?
God! is Thy voice there?
Thou hast apprised me.

"Other' to Thee I cry
As a child crieth
Look with a loving eye
Low where the lieth;
Doubtless through the aged light;
Bend Thou the roof of night;
Lend Thou more light, more light—
Land ere die'st."

"To Peary.

Mr. Peary, we'd very much obliged where thunders roll, If you'd think of us when icebergs block Your passage to the pole.

And 'stead of loafin' all the year,
Let's get your men together And pack the icebergs on your ships

Am' pitch 'em in our weather!

It is said that Senator Pettus knows a thousand poems by heart. The next time such a measure as the tariff bill comes up we suggest that he take the floor and recite them all.

A band of western spiritualists have decided to go to work, and are busy digging for gold. But they haven't a ghost of a chance of getting any.

The latest news from Princeton is that ex-President Cleveland "has taken to baseball." Wouldn't he look dignified making a home run!

The republicans in congress are now engaged in breaking the Sabbath and the country.

"The president attends church regularly," says a Washington exchange.

Well, a man shouldn't be a heathen because he's well.

Answer All!

Who wants to run to rule the state?

Speak up!

A gubernatorial candidate?

Speak up!

Who wants that office high—sublime?

Answer in reason or in rhyme!

Let half a hundred at a time

Speak up!

The race track's ready—long and wide:

Speak up!

Just designate the horse you'll ride:

Speak up!

The rain is to the swift and strong;

'Twill soon be time to strike the gong;

Roll up your sleeves and come along;

Speak up!

See! from the land where flows the Flint

ETCHES OF
AND COMMENT

ing up for the editor,
erect a $350,000 cotton

icker: "The Unofficial is the way it reads."

Mr. W. P. Price, Jr., postmaster at Dahl-

ormers are promised as ton, but the corn crop

N. railroad is being the killing of so much

a chautauqua, the first held at Abbeville last

and pronounced

It is reported that delegates would object mining conven-

tee. Representative

s, states or in congress

to interests when they

to reduce the expenses

tinel nominates Hon.

orney general. The

is underlined. Mr. Har-

would surely fill the

gutty ability.

property of Habersham

the day for this

with railroad tax

make a total of $1,000,- per 100 on this amount order of American is mid-summer edition,

with the enterprise and

Mrs. Myrick has just been considered one

the time running her to consummate skill

signed his order for the day of August, which

Clarksville or Tooele

people for the county

A petition signed by presented requesting said

and a guarantee bond

the courthous if re-

us filed.

arts, a confederate veter-

anized to Dahl-

reunion, was one of officers who were se-

Delaware to be placed

the confederate guns at

why this unusual

dedicated to these brave men

sweated by federal writ-

will be made in the Dak-

by the 1st of July. A

L. Bullard, who has

most acceptably as com-

for two years, has been

post of duty, and Col-

of the board of trus-

president has directed

of the Fourteenth

McPherson barracks, is of professor of military

at the North Georgia

on August 25th next.

Chattanooga has as little of its size in north

exceedingly creditable to any one, and we are not constantly

for the sake of fees comes forward. The progressive of such an important and

the care and duties of manhood and the salary

is a shame on the good of our state. The employee above a winter

in this month for home

"swimmers" in Gwin-

the Jackson counties are to

The invitations will be as the time is definite

will include all who are invited to come or to swap horses, mules,

and all attending will be swap as many lies as

is intended to be in

Jackson-Gwinnett said

was not in thorough

progressive spirit of the city too smalls for the abilities of so important for Governor.

for, Ga. Echo.

of Greensboro. It

dates that it has a

one of its distinguished

become a candidate

resumes it refers to Hon.

the hope that it is true,

superior in the state,

earned and accurate, as

and true, as a man he werving in his devotion

his public relations he

with the people of all

is the foremost repre-

and genuine bimetallic

the rights of the people

like a stone wall. His book and his friends

entire entrance in this

latorial contest last fall

made up—after he

and his vote at

of his strength

convention. It Hal Lewis can

the coming gubernatorial

he will add later

selected names whose

Georgia the Empire

Will Tell.

Courier.

has the temerity to

could be had, we do

6 to 1 doctrine as pro-

would be ratified, and

The Constitution had

because the money sentiment in the graph will pass this

next summer it will change its belief, it be-

as this assertion inde-

FIRST METHODIST MAY BE MOVED

Dr. Walker Lewis Makes a Plea for a Better Building.

PRESENT CHURCH TOO CENTRAL

Services Are Disturbed by Noises and Unbearable Summer Heat.

COMMITTEE WILL LOOK INTO SUBJECT

One Is Appointed to Report on the Best Means To Avoid Street Car
and Other Noises Which Now Disturb Church Services.

Dr. Walker Lewis preached to a large congregation at the First Methodist yesterday. His sermon was not one intended to spiritually elevate, but rather for bodily comfort. He fired a broadside at the pocketbooks of his congregation and told them that the needs of the church demanded that they give the greatest amount of it ever so little. He said that the vanity of the people often interfered with them in making a contribution of any kind.

HOME CHAPEL IS DEDICATED.

Carrie Steele Witnesses Another Successful Work Completed.

More than a year's devoted effort on the part of a struggling but determined negro woman was crowned with splendid success yesterday, when that woman saw hundreds of people gather to witness the dedication of the Carrie Steele orphan home, which was the work she had labored so long and faithfully to accomplish.

They were gathered on the hillside where the trial began to hear the sermon of the negro woman, who had given up her services to the church, and the idea of a home being built by a poor negro woman, but at last the home was built and those who had been instrumental in helping her had nothing but admiration for her.

This part of the sermon came in the nature of a surprise to a large number of the congregation. For some time the board of stewards and trustees had been promoting the idea of a home being built by the negro woman, and believe it to be both advisable and practicable. As a consequence, at the close of the sermon a short conference was held, at which the entire congregation remained.

The Grievances of the Church.

At this meeting the question was introduced as to what could be done to effect that since it was true that the church was so located that it was surrounded on three sides by Belgian blocks, which greatly added to the heat that is now almost unbearable, and that the noise of the street cars was such that it could not be avoided. It was agreed upon a committee to look into the matter and to report back to the church
as soon as possible.

The dedication sermon was preached by Dr. W. G. Alexander, pastor of Big Bethel church, on the corner of Butler and Auburn avenues.

A number of prominent colored ministers
occupied seats in the pulpit, and Rev.
Haygood, a white minister, was also present.

The social meeting was the first to be held in the new chapel, and the service was conducted with great interest and interesting.

SOCIALIST MEETING YESTERDAY

The New Party Held a Conference at Federation Hall on Peachtree.

A dozen men of widely different beliefs
and creeds attended the meeting.

After the meeting was over, the speakers addressed the audience, and the meeting was adjourned.

GAIL BORDEN EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK.

FOR 40 YEARS
THE LEADING INFANT FOOD.

No. 31 Whitehall Street.

SALE OF A WATERMELON.

Frank Reynolds Makes a Bad Trade
on Wheels.

Last Saturday night Mr. Frank H. Reynolds called at the police barracks and reported that his bicycle had been taken.

The first Methodist church in this part of the city was selected.

It is one of the most central locations in the city, and the property has rapidly enhanced

in value since it was first purchased.

It is bounded on three sides by Pryor and Peachtree streets and on the front by Houston Street.

No time has been named for a meeting of the committee.

WILL MEET IN OCTOBER.

A Negro Buys a Melon from a Man Who Didn't Own It.

One of the shrewdest bits of rascality that took place last Saturday night was reported at the police barracks yesterday.

Patrolman Billy Crim.

I. C. Clark runs a store at the corner of Peachtree and Loyd streets, and among other things at this season of the year he has a supply of watermelons. Saturday morning he was approached by a negro

ECTORY.

houses in Atlanta.

and Fleetwing Booksellers
South Pryor street.Books our specialty.
V. in charge, 49 Peachtree
St. Books for all schools,
new and second hand,
to order; 96 Whitehall St.Headquarters for Wagons made to order, Whips, etc. Call
the Traps, Surrays, Picnics for best work.

Auburn avenue, Atlanta, Ga.

Metal Skylights, Tin
Air Furnaces. "Phone 2222.
RE.Crockery, Glassware, Lacquer Street.Samples and catalogues, 91 Whitehall street.NG.
old clothes good as new,
and 24 Walton street.WORKS. All kinds of Designing.need to please. Prices resented. Chamberlin-Johnson.nts and Wall Papers; write East Hunter street.Chas. A. Mansfield, Managing.s and Plants; Flowers ad-sale and retail; 10 Marion Street.ades, Baby Carriages, Baby Carriages, etc. Write.ters for reliable Food Professionals, clubs and parties.are, Stoves, Tinware, Bride Refurbishing Goods.commerical and family plan-plan $2 and $2.50 per day.cts and Jewelry repaired, up-to date satisfactorily.President Hurt, of the Consolidated, and Attorneys Brandon & Akgwright, representing the Old Colony Trust Company, and Messrs. Payne & Tye, representing the Consolidated and the Trust Company of Georgia,
are also present, and their counselors interested in the case will be in conference with the court, and the trial will be instantly adjourned.

The demurrer of the city is overruled.

It is probable that the court will appoint a
special master to take the case under consideration and report to the court as to the
merit of the case, and to determine the financial standing and interests of the company.The special master or auditor will investigate the exact condition of the Consolidated and report if the company's interests are better off than in the Bill of Indemnity in the event that the transfer ordinance should be enforced. This is continuation on the action of the court on the demurrer.The city asks the court to disregard the part of the bill of indemnity because it is irrelevant to the case. It will be claimed that the company is not entitled to the relief prayed for and that the bill for injunction should be thrown out of court. It is held by the city that the transfer ordinance should stand on its merits as a legal act of the government, and the court agrees with general zeal by both parties.If the demurrer of the city is overruled
it is probable that the court will appoint a
special master to take the case under consideration and report to the court as to the
merit of the case, and to determine the financial standing and interests of the company.The special master or auditor will investigate the exact condition of the company's
interests and report if the transfer ordinance is clearly within the scope of the law and charter of the city.Major Collier left for Asheville Saturday
night and he will be present at the hearing
today. City Attorney Anderson, Assistant City Attorney, and other members of the council, Messrs. King & Spalding, also went to the city above the sky on Saturday night and they were in conference
with the court, arranging the city's plan
of action for today.President Hurt, of the Consolidated, and Attorneys Brandon & Akgwright, repre-
senting the Old Colony Trust Company, and
Messrs. Payne & Tye, representing the Con-
solidated and the Trust Company of Georgia,
are also present, and their counse-
lors interested in the case will be in conference with the court, and the trial will be instantly adjourned.The members of No. 1 and No. 2 fire
companies are returning to the city from their week's outing at Cumberland and No. 4 will leave in the morning to take their vacation.After many trips of the firemen are always enjoyable and a large delegation of
citizens always accompany them.Young Edgar Brown, who was knocked
senseless by a foul blow, was again unconscious
for the first time today and there is now
some hope.The young man may live days in a perfectly limp and senseless condition, and it
was thought that he would never regain
consciousness.There was a public installation of officers of the Epworth League at the Methodist Church, and a very large congregation
was present.Addressed were made by Revs. S. R.
Baptist, J. A. H. Dill, H. L. Edmondson
and J. A. Hale.The Rome league will be represented at the national convention in Toronto.BIG LEGAL BATTLE
TO BEGIN TODAYTransfer Hearing Comes Up Before Judge
Newman in Asheville.

PROMINENT ATTORNEYS THERE

Mayor Collier and Judge Anderson and Other Lawyers Left Saturday.

DECISION TO BE MADE ON CITY'S DEMURRER

If It Is Not Sustained a Special Auditor May Be Appointed To Investigate the Big Case.Today the great legal battle between the city of Atlanta and the Atlanta Consolidated Street Railway Company begins at Asheville, N. C. One branch of the transfer case will be decided there by Judge Newman and probably advanced to an important stage in the course of the litigation.All of the attorneys in the case and the officers of the street railroad company left Saturday night for Asheville, where they arrived early yesterday morning. They put in the day resting up and preparing for the big battle.The case is now nearing a climax in the court and the decision of Justice Newman on the demurrer presented to the court by the city will give the case an important direction. If the demurrer is sustained it means quite a victory for the city and also that the federal court must proceed to an end
with general zeal by both parties.If the demurrer of the city is overruled
it is probable that the court will appoint a
special master to take the case under consideration and report to the court as to the
merit of the case, and to determine the financial
standing and interests of the company.The special master or auditor will investigate the exact condition of the company's
interests and report if the transfer ordinance is clearly within the scope of the law and charter of the city.Major Collier left for Asheville Saturday
night and he will be present at the hearing
today. City Attorney Anderson, Assistant
City Attorney, and other members of the council, Messrs. King & Spalding, also went to the city above the sky on Saturday night and they were in conference
with the court, arranging the city's plan
of action for today.President Hurt, of the Consolidated, and Attorneys Brandon & Akgwright, repre-
senting the Old Colony Trust Company, and
Messrs. Payne & Tye, representing the Con-
solidated and the Trust Company of Georgia,
are also present, and their counse-
lors interested in the case will be in conference with the court, and the trial will be instantly adjourned.The members of No. 1 and No. 2 fire
companies are returning to the city from their week's outing at Cumberland and No. 4 will leave in the morning to take their vacation.After many trips of the firemen are
always enjoyable and a large delegation of
citizens always accompany them.Young Edgar Brown, who was knocked
senseless by a foul blow, was again unconscious
for the first time today and there is now
some hope.The young man may live days in a perfectly limp and senseless condition, and it
was thought that he would never regain
consciousness.There was a public installation of officers of the Epworth League at the Methodist Church, and a very large congregation
was present.Addressed were made by Revs. S. R.
Baptist, J. A. H. Dill, H. L. Edmondson
and J. A. Hale.The Rome league will be represented at the national convention in Toronto.HON. A. T. MCINTYRE, JR., DEAD Prominent Citizen of Thomasville
Breathes His Last.Thomasville, Ga., July 11.—Hon. A. T.
McIntyre, Jr., died at his home in this city
this morning at 3 o'clock after an illness extending over a year. Mr. McIntyre was a leading lawyer at the Thomasville bar
for many years and was one of the best known and most prominent citizens of this country. He represented this county in the state legislature several times.
Being a son of Colonel A. T. McIntyre he belonged to one of the wealthiest and most prominent families in the state. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning.A FIERCE BATTLE IN LYNCH'S ALLEYA Police Officer Narrowly Escapes Being Severely Clipped.

HE DREW HIS PISTOL TO KILL

A Negro Brutally Assails Another
with a Rock.

THE WOUNDED NEGRO MAY DIE

Police Officers Have a Lively Time
in an Alley Late Saturday Night.
Result of the Raid.CUPID DANCED AT HASTY WEDDINGMr. Frank Clements and Miss Lola Walker
Wed Saturday.

WAS PARENTAL OBJECTION

But Youthful Love Removed the Barriers from the Way.

THE MINISTER DROVE IN RECKLESS HASTE

The Wedding Was Most Romantic and
Mr. and Mrs. Clements Are Now Receiving Congratulations.There was a wild scene and a fierce battle between a policeman and a negro battler in Lynch's alley late Saturday night.While anxious relatives endeavored to prevent the marriage ceremony, Mr. Frank Clements and Miss Lola Walker were ro-accounts of ignorance of the language spoken there, we think that the languages of Spain and Portugal should receive more attention in this country than they receive now."OLD HICKORY IN 1796.
Portrait of Andrew Jackson—Never Before Published.We are enabled to present to our readers
for the first time a hitherto unpublished political portrait of Andrew Jackson. The picture will be interesting, not only because it has never before been published, but because it is entirely unlike the generally accepted portraits of the seventh President of the United States. It shows Jackson as he was in 1796, when he was about twenty-one years old. It is a miniature of the old master, and is in excellent condition.
It is a portrait of Andrew Jackson, and is one of the best known high grade manufactures. Not a suit worth less than $15.50, or even $15.00, can be had.About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade manufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
ufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
manufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
manufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All
Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots. Fancy
Worsted, Vincennes and Cassimeres in new
shades of darkish plaid, small checks
and solid colors. Every article in this season
is of well known high grade man-
manufacture. Not a suit worth less than $15.50,
or even $15.00, can be had.

At $9.90

About 700 Men's and Youths' Fine All Wool Suits of Imported Cheviots.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers:
have moved from 47 Whitehall street to their new establishment, Nos. 7 and 9 West Alabama street, one door from corner of Whitehall.

OPIUM
Atlanta, Ga.
and Whiskey. Fabrics cut at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE.
R. M. WOOLLEY, M.D.
Office 104 N. Pryor St.

WANTED!
Galloway Coals!

Well, Telephone No. 1018
For Galloway, Elk River and Anthracite Coals.

NONE BETTER.

Yards West Hunter St. and Central R.R.
E. A. HOLMES, General Agent.

A-f-r-i-c-a-n-a Absolutely cures Rheumatism.

A-f-r-i-c-a-n-a
Absolutely cures Scrofula.

A-f-r-i-c-a-n-a
Absolutely cures Old Sores.

A-f-r-i-c-a-n-a
Absolutely cures Syphilis.

A-f-r-i-c-a-n-a
Absolutely cures Eczema.

A-f-r-i-c-a-n-a
Absolutely cures Constipation.

A-f-r-i-c-a-n-a Absolutely cures Catarrh.

A-f-r-i-c-a-n-a
Absolutely cures all Blood Disease.

Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

WOODBURY CURES PIMPLES.
271 W. 42d ST.

Very Cheap Sunday Rates

TO ALL POINTS ON ATLANTA AND WEST POINT R.R.

ATLANTA TO College Park ..... 18c
Red Oak ..... 36c
Palmiro ..... 54c
Powell's ..... 99c
NEWNAN ..... 1.00
PEPPER SPRINGS ..... 1.00
Moreland ..... 1.00
Grantville ..... 1.00
Dekalb ..... 1.00
LeGrange ..... 1.00
Gabbettsville ..... 1.00
West Point ..... 2.61
Tickets sold only for

SUNDAY ACCOMMODATION TRAIN
leaving Atlanta 8 a.m. and returning on
No. 34 p. m. same date.
TICKETS $1.00 each Pass. Agt.
GEO. W. ALLEN, Trav. Pass. Agt.
E. E. KIRBY, City Ticket Agt.
12 Kimball House.

Look at Your Hose

And see if you don't need a new one. Also a Lawn Sprinkler, Nozzle, Couplings, etc. I have them in all shapes and styles, at the lowest prices.

Gas Fixtures and Plumbing Goods
always on hand.

R. F. O'SHIELDS,
106 N. Pryor St., Lowndes Building
Phone 544

F. H. LANSDELL,
Electrical Contractor,
47 N. Broad St.

You Press the Button,
I Do the Rest

Photographic developing, printing and enlarging for the amateur.

J. B. McCLEERY,

814 Norcross Building.

THE INK USED ON THIS PAPER
IS FROM THE Standard Printing Ink Co.,
No. 20 W. Canal St., CINCINNATI, O.
Established in 1857.

Wedding Gifts

A superb line of Sterling Silver Cut Glass
and Novelties

Suitable for Bridal Gifts—just received.
Also latest style visiting cards furnished
on shortest notice.

Charles W. Crankshaw
Jeweler,
22 Whitehall street.

ASTHMA
HAY FEVER
CATARRH
Oppression, Suffocation, Neuralgia, etc.
CURED BY
Espic's Cigarettes, or Powder
Paris, J. ESPIC; New York, E. FOUGERA & CO.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

CITY HACKS WORSE THAN PRISON CELLS

Passengers Become Prisoners When the Driver Closes the Door.

NEW ORDINANCE IS WANTED

Dr. Harry Huzza Has Written City
Attorney an Interesting Letter.

SAYS THAT HUMAN LIFE IS AT STAKE

His Exciting Runaway Has Prompted Him To Agitate the Matter Before
the City Council.

A movement is on foot to regulate the hacks of the city and to arrange, not only for the comfort of passengers, but for the protection of their lives.

This morning City Attorney James A.
Anderson will receive a communication from Dr. Harry Huzza which will bear directly upon the subject. The letter will ask that an ordinance be introduced which will require all hacks to be provided with an arrangement which will open the doors
from within.

Dr. Huzza has been prompted to write this letter on account of the thrilling ride
he had recently while he was a prisoner in a hack which was dying through the streets behind a frightened horse. The physician was at the mercy of the horse,
as he was in a closed hack and it was impossible for him to open the door from the outside.

When the horse became frightened
the driver lost control of the animal and the lines fell to the footboard. As the horse turned into Luckie street, the cabman was thrown from his box, and the terrified horse ran at lightning speed down the street, with the door open.

Dr. Huzza says the lines lying almost within reach, but he was powerless to interfere, or check the mad animal's speed. He was a prisoner and was held as securely
as if he had been handcuffed and locked
within a prison cell.

As the mad race continued, Dr. Huzza saw his only chance to escape, and made frantic efforts to open the door. There was no knob or handle on the inside, and the only way in which the door could be opened was by turning the knob on the outside,
which was impossible on account of the door being too high to admit of a man's hand reaching the knob.

On account of the violence of the ride,
the glass window of the cab was broken.

Dr. Huzza says the lines lying almost
within reach, but he was powerless to interfere, or check the mad animal's speed. He was a prisoner and was held as securely
as if he had been handcuffed and locked
within a prison cell.

The volume was edited by Mr. T. Edgar Harvey, and the book itself is a tribute to his ability in that line.

The history is a short and sets off the adventures in this state in a neat and becoming manner. It is not only a book that will live, but it is calculated to do the same.

All orders will be promptly filled.

Send to the city attorney tomorrow morning and will say that he introduces a city ordinance which will provide that all cabs in the city be made to conform with the ordinance. There are many hacks in the city which are cabs, and I have not seen a single hack which is safe,
because there is no way for a passenger to get out. I have written Chief Connolly, but never had a reply to my letter.

I now intend taking the matter up with the city attorney, and I hope to succeed in getting the ordinance passed.

PLEASE RETURN THIS BOY.

Jennie Darden Is Anxious That Her Son Is Found.

A reward of $100 has been offered for the return of Harry Darden, a little brown boy, who was last seen in Atlanta, June 25th.

You want a medicine that will keep you
in good health and out of the weakness of the system? Take Hood's Paraplatinum, the only true blood purifier, nerve tonic and appetizer.

At the Summer Resorts

Let your vacation dress be both sensible and attractive. A neat, well-made blouse, skirt and hat, with lace, shirring, etc., and increase the comfort of cool summer weather. Mail orders for dresses and favors filled promptly. Delkin's Diamond Palace, 10 Peachtree street.

He Fell in Love with His Wife.

And it's no wonder, for as she sat opposite
him at the table, her lovely pink complexion contrasting with the surroundings, the bright eyes, the light, graceful movements,
the gay, happy smile, the smile of a young girl.

The description of the boy is as follows:
A small, brown skin, thick in the wrist, on the left eye three and a half feet in height and eight years old.

BIDS TO BE OPENED TOMORROW.

Apartment House on Peachtree Will Soon Be Under Construction.

The bids for the construction of the Majestic, the apartment house to be built on Peachtree street, will be opened tomorrow noon.

The bids will be opened in the office of Mr. W. F. Denny, the architect. There are about a dozen of the bids and the competition will be very lively.

The building will cost not less than $75,000
and the bids will be for the first floor, less or greater sum. Mr. Denny has announced that as soon as the contract is awarded the work will begin. This will be one of the contractor who gets the job. He will demand that the work of construction be begun at once and pushed as rapidly as possible.

The name of the contractor who secures
the contract will be announced tomorrow afternoon and by Wednesday morning the workmen may be clearing out the present
little building to put in the foundation.

Rockbridge Alum Springs.

At this exquisite watering place Dr.
Lewis will have a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

Office Stationery

For every description at John M. Miller's 15 Marietta street.

Weak and Sickly,
System run down. Strength all gone. Sallow and don't care what you live or die.
Dyspepsia, dysentery, take a dose of Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy and it will cure them in our windows. Delkin's Alum Springs, Ga.

W. D. ALLEN, D. P. A.
July 12 '97.

Rockbridge Alum Springs.

At this exquisite watering place Dr.
Lewis will have a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere in the world. The
climate is almost as perfect as that of
the sunnier climes, and the water
is delicious.

He has had a vacation at Rock-
bridge than anywhere